Ginover's Triange " Loss Lyone" Again,— Manager Grover had previously amnounced that Kast Lyone" would not be repeated, and ever work, as we learn, to a number of gentlemen decitoling again to produce the play, choosing rather to give the public a change nightly. But a number of bidies having solicited a repetition of their pet jay, Manager Grover was unable to withstand further, and again the piece goes up, we feel assuived, to a crowded and fashionable suddence.

There may be a large number of our citizens and of viaitors in the city who have not enjoyed "Estat Lyone; or, The Elopement," this we much doubt, but if such be the cias, if there be any who have not seen "Sant Lyone," we would, had we the power, enjoin upon such to attend Grover's Thesee this evening, and we would willingly answer for the satisfaction rendered them by the performsines. The great triumph of Mias Western in all cities where she has appeared, has been in the double character of Lady fashed and Madame Vine.
The play is one of those pecular sympathetic dramas in the construction of which the French people are so eminently hoppy; but a decided novantage possessed by "East Lyane" over any French semaction play, is in the character of its language and cituations. It is smort in the most fastishous sense, and cannot fail to inculiate teach ings of virtue and confidence in every heart. We have seen, at previous performances of this beautiful play, whole audiences—men, women and chiadring gerring, though deeply loving Lady lashed.
East Lyone", though deeply loving Lady lashed.
East Lyone "and its beauties cannot be faithfully described, its magnificence as an elevating and couching interesting play cannot be appreciated unless witnessed. Let no one who has not seen
"East Lyone; or, The Elopement," fail to be in attendance at Grover's Theater to-night. East Lynne ; or, 'The Elopement,' fail to be in at codance at Grover's Theatre to-night.

Nixow's Wassistoton Theatrie—The advertisement in another column informs us that this evening Mr. Chanfrau makes his last appearance in this city, at least, for the present. We are sorry for this, as we had hoped to see this srifate in some of those pieces which he has played in Philadelphia and New York with such marked success. But we trust he will soon return. The performances this evening consist of "The Wissrd Skiff," with Cuba in three characters, a terrific combat, and in a Spanish dance. The most successful piece of the issue on, "Pocahontas," will be played for the last time. To-morrow evening Cubas takes a benefit.

CANTERBURY.—To-night will be positively the last but two of the brilliant engagement of the three beautiful etsers, M iss Kate Pennoyer, the fairy danseure, Miss Julia Mortimer, the bewitching actives, and Miss Agnes Southerland, the Queen of Song. They cannot prolong their stay beyond Saturday, as they are engaged to appear in Alexandria on Monday night. Those of our citizens who take pleasure in witnessing beautiful asts of perform, ance should not lose the opportunity of seeing these talented artistes ere thy leave our city. They appear to-night, together with the entire dramatic and ballet company, is one of the most elegant entertainments of the season, concluding with the ever popular farce of "The Secret," in which Mr. George R. Edsson will sustain the principal character. Public curiosity is greatly excited to see the world-reacowed danseuse, Annetti Galleti, who appears on Monday night.

world-renowned danseuse, America Gallett, who appears on Monday night.

Nixon's Cremonre Garden Circus.—Mr. Eaton Stone has created a furore by the introduction of a new serio-comic equestrian act, entitled Grimaldi on Horseback. Exton, whilst the acknowledged best rider in the world, dons the modley with most excellent taste; in fact, to speak briefly and to the point, he can act and talk as well as do daring feals on a horse's back. Mr. James Reynolds, the new clown, is destined to become a favorite, and deservedly so too, for he has genius and a tact that is tantamount to takent. He speaks fluently, sings well and generates an unusual amount of good natured hilarity. Dr. James L. Thayer keeps his position in the estimation of the public, and is slways well received. Miss Mary Carroll is winning golden opinions, receiving some bouquets, and no incondicable share of approbation by the execution of her difficult leap through a small balloon. On Monday next, Messra Luke and Charles Rivers will appear at the Cremorne, in conjunction with a new far troupe, which Mr. Nixon has recently engaged.

star troupe, which Mr. Nixon has recently engaged.

THE WOLF'S DEN CLORED.—On Monday night last, Licut. Franklin, in his rounds as a commander of the night patrol, suspected something wrong in a house kept by Mrs. Rey-nolds silas Wolfe, No. 498. Thirteenth, near C street. He posted his guard in front, while he went round to the rear to take observations. The sergonant in front knocked at the door, and as soon as the presence of the guard was known, four soldiers were hustled out at the back door by the females within. The soldiers unjuckily found themselves in the hands of Licut. Franklin, by whom they were taken to the guardhouse.

On learning these facts, Licut. Col. Doster ordered the arrest of the inmates of the "Wolf Den." Tuesday night, the guard went to the house and arrested Mrs. Wolfe, Miss L. Parker, Miss E. Snow, Mary Roberts, Ellen Saxton, Kate Waters, and Rose Smith, and took them to the Central guard-house. Yesterday morning, they were examined by Justice Walter, who held them for a further hearing this morning on the charge of harboring and secreting solders from the patrol. The "den "was closed.

South Seventh Street Cars.—The company have laid a double track from the Avenue to and over the Seventh street bridge, where it again unites with the main track. This is reng dered necessary, on account of the bridge—the passing of the cars on one track rendering it very inconvenient to the cars and other vehicless. Only two cars are now running on the track south of the Avenue, aithough more will be put on as soon as they arrive from the manufactory. The cars now run twice each hour, starting from each end of the route at 20 minutes before and 15 minutes after each hour, throughout the day.

Lauceny.—Frederick Miller was arrested on Tuesday last, by Officer Findley, of Georgetown, on the charge of stealing a vest, valued at $5.00, the property of A. Holsenger, who keeps a clothing store on the corner of High and Bridge streets, in that place. It seems that Miller went into the store, as he alleges, for the purpose of buying some clothing, but while the clark was walting upon some other cus tomers, Miller seized a vest, and was about to cleave the store, when he was seen and given in charge of the officer, who took him before Justice Reaver, who committed him to jail for court.

ASSAULT ON A COLDRED MAN. - On last Tues ASSAULT ON A COLDRED MAN.—On last Tuesday of the Government, was passing along up Seventh street, he was attacked by two men and most brutally beaten with a slung shot over the head and face, breaking his skull and otherwise injuring him, besides robbing him of a considerable amount of money. The perpetrators of this dastardly and murderous attack have not, as yet, been arrested, but soon will be, no doubt, as the officers are on their track. We sincerely hope they will be caught and brought to justice.

EXPENSIVE LIQUOR SALES.—On Tuesday night the patrol under Lieut. Franklin visited the house of Mr. Ruple, corner of Nineteenth and H streets, and found him trying to make a little money by selling liquor to soldiers. He was money by selling liquor to soldiers. He was ordered to appear at the Central guard-house in the morning, and the house was closed. Yes-terday morning Ruple was examined by Justice Walter and compelled to disgorge his ill-gotton gains, to the amount of $30, for the benefit of the corporation.

MERTING OF THE CHAPLAINS.—In secondance with a call which appeared in the Republican, a meeting of the army chaplains of this vicinity was held in the hail of the Young Mens' Christian Association yesterday, at 13 o'clock.

The meeting was called to order by Rev. C. W. Denison, chaplain of the Fatient Office hospital, and on his motion, Rev. E. W. Jackson, of the Armory Square hospital, was called to the chair, and Rev. C. W. Denison acted as secretary.

Rev. Dr. Chaming, by request of the chair, offered prayer.

Rev. Mr. Denison then read a somewhat voluminous document, setting forth the influence chaptains generally, and their usefulness and efficiency during the present rebellion, together with what is conceived to be the duty of these officers, and especially with regard to the burist of the dead. In this connection, the gentleman read a letter from John A. Fowle, Es., of the Navy Department, who has been particularly active in labors for the benefit of soldiers, which, as it contains many good and practicable suggestions, we publish in full, as follows:

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18, 1862.

Washington, Nov. 18, 1862.

We Dension,

Secretary Chaplains Meeting.

My Dear Sir. I have read with much sanisfaction the call for a meeting of army shapians, to consider "what steps should be taken by them to procure an improvement in the manner of the burial of deceased volunteers." It is a move in the right direction, and I trust will be entirely successful in bringing about a reform in this matter.

I have often expressed my views of the wrong treatment towards our noble countrymen who have left their homes to die far away from friends, and then be buried in the capital of the nation in a manner that shocks the feelings of every man who honors a soldier. The chapitalins well know the abuses to which I refer; many of them I have talked with on the subject, and I know they agree with me when I as y that our Government should allow every deceased soldier a decent burial when it is peasible, he should have a good coffin (and that I believe is furnished.) a neatly covered vehicle to convey his remains to their last reating place, and should have a military escort as far as the outskirts of the city, if not to the grave; and his coffin should be covered with one of the flags for which he died, and a neathead board (which are being provided) should tell us where his body lies.

But I did not commence this letter with a view of telling you what you already know, but to show my interest in the matter in a practical way, and to asy to you that, in case the Government undertaker cannot afford, you a more fit vehicle than I have often seen in our streets, I will be one of ten or twenty to give 45 each to buy a covered vehicle to be given into the charge of the undertaker rand chapitains for the use of deceased soldlers.

I have, also, in my possession a beautiful flag, sent me, by some children, from Boston, to hang up in the "Soldlers' Libeary." This I will loan for daily use, a burials, from Boston, the donors would feel I had loaned it for a most sacred purples.

I have, also, in my possession a beautiful flag, sen

A NUBANCE.—We have been requested to call attention to the fact that the drivers of some of the Government teams are in the daily practice of stopping on the north side of F, between Ninth and Tenth streets, where, by their conversation and conduct, their presence has become a perfect anisance. Ladies do not like to pass the locality, and nuch inconvenience is experienced in consequence. We hope the evil will be remedied.

New Public School Building.—The committee on a plan for the public school building proposed to be erected in the third district have adopted one proposed by Mr. Kluss, a draughteman in the office of the constructing engineer at the navy-yard. Coming to Washington.—It is stated that Bishop Simpson, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, contemplates making this city his permanent place of residence, and the pastors of our Methodist churches have held a meeting to extend a cordial reception to the bishop and his family.

MERICAT AND MUSIC.—The enteriainment of Prof. Armes, at Willard Hall, on Monday night was not largely attended on account of the rain. But a very intelligent and appreciative audience witnessed, with apparent delight, the remarkable exhibitions of Prof. A. and pupils in recalling create, dates, names, distances, including the children of Prof. A. and pupils in recalling create, dates, names, distances, taltitudes, de., after but few hours surely, Among those who participated, was a young man, from Camberland, Md., who had attended Prof. A.'s lectures flur years previons. His facility in repeating a large number of figures, in and out of order, was almost incredible, not having reviewed his lessons since first given. In order to prove the absence of collusion, various persons were requissted to each put down a certain number of figures, and the Professor himself, after giancing over carry 40 figures irregularly put down, of difficult combination, selected and accurately gave the 20th, 9th, and any other figure requested, this being considered the erowing triumph of the science. It would indeed only have been necessary to witness this exhibition to be convinced of its perfect utility. It having been urged upon Prof. A., we learn, that at some propitions day, he will repeat this remarkable exhibition, and we feel assured he will have a crowded house. The will repeat this remarkable exhibition, and we feel assured he will have a crowded house. The Marine Band were present and discoursed some delightful music, and Miss Rumsey cutertained the andience with an inspiring patriotic song. "The Flag of the Free."

A Propane and Drenken Woman.—About the audience with an inspiring patriotic song, "The Flag of the Free."

A PROFANE AND DRUNKEN WOMAN.—About 6 o'clock last night, the people along the Avenue, near Sixth street, were shocked by hearing the vilest profanity and indeceney in language ever heard, proceeding from the month of a beautiful and elegantly sittred female, who was standing near a back and abusing the driver in the choicest billingsgate. She had been riding around in the back and then refused to pay the hire of the same. Officer Fendal arrested her and took her before Justice Walter. She was very much intoxicated and quite "auney" to the magistrate, who ordered her to be locked up for contempt. She gave her name as Elizabeth Monroe, and claimed relationship with Ex-President Monroe, declaring that she belonged to the F. F. V's, and says her recently came from the "Southern Confederacy." She was quite noisy in the cell, and saw rats and "snaix" in great profusion in her sleeping apartments.

Buspicion of Lanciny.—Frank Elwood, a tavern keeper, and Charles Simpson were arrested yesterday afternoon on suspicion of being engaged in a plot to rob a man by the name of Samuel Caskin, who recently came from Londoun county, Virginia, with a cow, with bonds and other papers of value. Some-body had piled him with liquor pretty freely, and being apparently an honest-hearied old man, the vilialiss doubtless intended to rob him of all his property. They got into a fight with him and one had knocked him down, when Officers Fenwick, Crown and Nichel discovered the party and arrested them. Etwood was dismissed and the others locked up in the Fourth ward station. They will be tried to-day.
